2024 Training Program: Educate the Educators

ACIGS would like to invite our esteemed company members, engineering and construction companies for sponsorship opportunities for the upcoming Educate the Educators. The sponsorship packages are great opportunities to showcase company capabilities and build strategic connections. We expect the attendees are mainly lecturers, researchers, university students and laboratory technicians.

The program aimed to show university faculty members provide how the core principles of geosynthetics could be incorporated into their existing curricula, preparing future engineers with basic understanding of geosynthetics.
